Introduction

Most of your money has been made in the 'Buy what you see' concept. Explain the above concept w.r.t Pantaloon, Page, Bajaj Finance and DMART?

Buy what you see? When does it work and when it doesn't?

The big problem in buying these great businesses is the entry price. How does one justify the initial valuation of a Britannia or a Nestle?

Most of your stocks are high P/E great businesses but the market talk is that a great business need not be a great stock. Comment?

Do you need a fund manager to tell you that Asian Paints, Pidilite, Page Industries are great companies to own?

Why has ITC been such a laggard in the last 10 years?

Two wheelers or Four wheelers?

What are economic profits?
